VOL. XI. RENO, WASHOE COUNTY. NEVADA. MONDAY. AUGUST 8, 1881. NO. 110

Single vs. Married Soldiers.

It has long been a mooted point whether single or married men make the best soldiers.

Some maintain that the lack of wife and family tend to make a man more reckless of his life—therefore a good soldier.

Others say that the married man is almost a veteran when he enters the ranks, being inured to combat—therefore a good soldier.

In the recent Tunisian campaign a colonel was questioned upon this point.

"Both are right," said he. "Look yonder—do you see that battalion of happy, devil-may-care fellows? They are all single men, and they would take their lives in their hands. But those taciturn, sombre, gloomy-looking men there? They are all married, and in a hand-to-hand fight they are terrors."

"What is the name of the battalion?" asked the inquirer.

"They are called," said the colonel, "the 'Children of Despair.'"

A Good Editor.

A good editor, a competent newspaper conductor is like a general or poet—born not made. On the London daily papers all the historians, novelists, poets, essayists, poets, all have failed. We might say all, for after a display of brilliancy, brief but grand, they died out literally. Their resources were exhausted. "I can," said a late editor of the Times, to Moore, "find any number of men of genius to write for us, but very seldom one of common sense." The "thunderers" in the Times, therefore, have, so far as we know, been men of common sense. Nearly all successful editors have been men of this description. Campbell, Bulwer and Disraeli failed, Barnes, Sterling and Phillips succeeded. A good editor seldom writes for his paper. He reads, judges selects, dictates, alters and combines, and to do do all this well he has but little time for composition. To write for a paper is one thing, to edit a paper is another.

WHO LOSES IT?

About a week ago the GAZETTE published the substance of the District Attorney's report, which shows among other things that the Treasurer is now holding two certificates of deposit on the Reno Savings Bank. It seems that the bondsmen of the late B. B. Norton entered into an agreement with Bender & Co. and the Reno Savings Bank to make good the defalcation of Treasurer Norton. The bondsmen secured the banks, and the banks issued their certificates of deposit, payable to the Treasurer, for the amount of the defalcation. D. A. Bender & Co.'s certificate of $1,100 was paid. That of the Reno Savings Bank of $2,800 is still in the county vault, representing so much gold coin. When Treasurer Norton, through his deputy, C. T. Bender, settled with his successor in office, D. B. Boyd, it was most certainly Mr. Boyd's duty to either refuse to accept the certificates in question or to have immediately presented them at the banks for payment. In explanation, Mr. Boyd says:

"My reasons for not drawing the money on the certificates are as follows: Kinkead told me that the two banks had deposited their certificates for the balance due the county on the Norton defalcation, and that they (the banks) would not charge the bondsmen interest on the money unless they were compelled to advance the coin before realizing from the Norton estate. The banks at the same time had this property in charge. I asked Bender when he turned the county funds [to me] if these certificates were for the balance due from Norton; he said 'yes;' so I supposed it was in accordance with the agreement between the banks and the bondsmen who gave the bond of indemnity."

What right had Mr. Boyd as a public officer and custodian of the public moneys, to suppose anything of the kind? What business was it to him, as County Treasurer, what the agreement was between Norton's bondsmen and the banks? The Norton bondsmen had made the defalcation good by causing the certificates of deposit to issue from the banks, and when Mr. Boyd received the county moneys from Deputy County Treasurer C. T. Bender, if he had presented the certificates at the banks and demanded payment they would have been paid in full. The certificate on the defunct bank for $2,800 Mr. Boyd held in his possession for eighteen months prior to the failure of the bank, and never once presented it for payment. The County Commissioners have counted the money nine times, and reported the funds correct each time. It is to be hoped this matter will be explained and the responsibility placed where it belongs. As to the $2,000 check, or the purpose for which it was issued, any possible supposition cannot change Treasurer Boyd's responsibility.

A DECAYING INSTITUTION.

The Comstock papers seem to be in an uncomfortable plight. We predicted some such condition for the Enterprise in 1877. It seems unfortunate that the pioneer paper of Nevada, which was built up by the ability and force of Daggett, Goodman, Wright and Goodwin, should have reached such a low ebb that popular opinion seems to demand its death. The Carson Index appropriately says:

It is hardly profitable to speculate as to the future of the Enterprise for the double reason that time will very soon determine that question, and that the present condition of that paper is not sufficiently instructive and interesting to occupy public attention. There is no doubt that since the Enterprise became the property and was devoted to the exclusive and repulsive task of advocating the sordid interests of Railroad and Bonanza capital, it has entirely lost the popular good will that for so many years had given it a hearty and profitable support; and has been almost from the first a money losing speculation to its owners. The only service it was capable of rendering its masters was through its pretended adherence to the Republican party and its consequent power to betray and disentegrate Nevada Republicanism. Its efforts in this direction have been well understood all over the State, and what there is left of party spirit exists by reason of that intelligence among the people which even the Enterprise could not hoodwink or deceive.

BUILT FOR ALL TIME.

The fact that a thing is to last forever gives it an interest almost amounting to solemnity. The old familiar hill north of town will never again be the bare and uninteresting object it has been in the past. The bright ribbons of iron that adorn its brow are destined to be there as long as the solid earth remains. The whistle of the little engine awoke the echoes to-day for the first time, never again to be silenced. The road has got so far ahead now that it will go through of its own weight, whether those engineering it live through or not, and whether it is profitable or not it will never be abandoned or closed up. It will wind its way through the mountain passes and along the productive valleys with hardly a perceptible change, while the people who use it, and those who run it, come and go like the figures in a dream. It will be in its youth when all of us who have worked for it and watched it being built, have gone from earth. It will bear its daily burden with monotonous faithfulness, while generation after generation comes and goes. It will see the valleys full of homes, and the wastey deserts under improved methods of tillage. It will see a city at Reno, and others along its path. It will live to be one of a swarm of railroads that will develop unthought of resources, and make a new empire, full of bright people, of high development, of noble character, in the dusty desert that is now considered a useless scar on the beautiful face of the earth.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

When Texas was annexed to the United States she retained her rights to all the public lands within her domain. By her Constitution the proceeds of the sales of public lands must go exclusively for school purposes. She has already $2,000,000 in the State Treasury, and there are yet forty million acres unsold. Her school fund before long will be enormous, and the interest of which should enable Texas to establish a school system unsurpassed by any State in the Union.

The idea of a clergyman being suspended from duty on a charge of plagiarism may seem humorous to most observers of church matters; but the Rev. Walter Duncan, pastor in one of the Lieth Presbyterian Churches, Scotland, was recently put out of his pulpit for three months on the charge of plagiarism.

Our cotemporary displayed a certain kind of enterprise in changing its form to publish Attorney Rankin's report. It would necessitate a half column change of policy for the Journal to express an opinion on the report.

"Billy the Kid" is the disrespectful title bestowed by the New York World on the thrifty patriot who makes the United States Senate Republican—Mr. William Mahone of Virginia.

Carson Tribune: Several state officials were at the picnic grounds to-day affiliating, so to speak, with the citizens of foreign birth.

The Carson papers are scalping Fair for keeping the Carson Mint closed. They will find him hard to wake.

The Scots' Pucknic.

The Caledonian picnic was a complete success. It brought out the largest crowd of the season and not a single accident occurred to mar the the pleasure of the day. The Emmet Guard of Virginia won the first prize, and the Carson Guard the second, both companies making creditable scores. Following are the total scores of the contesting teams:

| | |
|---|---|
| Emmet Guard | 792 |
| Carson Guard | 788 |
| National Guard | 759 |
| Washington Guard | 744 |
| Tiger Guard | 636 |

W. S. Haskins of Gold Hill, a member of the Emmet Guard, scored 47 points, and Rippingham of Virginia, also a member of the Emmet Guard, made 46.

License Granted.

Hugh McMannis was to-day granted a license to marry Margaret Mehan. The parties were from Bidwell.

No Good Preaching.

No man can do a good job or work, preach a good sermon, try a lawsuit well, doctor a patient, or write a good article when he feels miserable and dull, with sluggish brain and and unsteady nerves, and none should make the attempt in such a condition when it can be so easily and cheaply removed by a little Hop Bitters. See other column.

Fears of Death.

James Russel Lowell.

Why should men ever be afraid to die, but that they regard the spirit as secondary to that which is its mere appendage and convenience, its symbol its word, its means of visibility? If the soul lose this poor human mansion of hers by the sudden conflagration of disease, or by the slow decay of age, is she therefore houseless and shelterless? If she cast away this soiled and battered garment, is she therefore naked? A child looks forward to a new suit and dons it joyfully; we cling to our rags and foulness. We should welcome death as one who brings us tidings of the finding of long-lost titles to a large family estate, and set out gladly to take possession, though it may be, not without a natural tear for the humbler home we are leaving. Death always means us a kindness, though he has often a gruff way of offering it.

A Titled Scapegrace.

The London Truth tells this story about the young Earl of Shrewsbury, who eloped with Mrs. Mundy recently. The frail but fair lady returned to the custody of her brother. The latter had openly expressed himself in somewhat forcible language concerning the titled Lothario. Lothario sent a message through his kinsman, Lord H——, that he would be glad to meet the lady's brother at an appointed time and place, with the view of arranging a hostile meeting in satisfaction of the strong language referred to. The brother fell into the trap, and attended the rendezvous, evidently hoping for an opportunity of administering condign punishment on the spot. There he found the kinsman, Lord H—, but no Lothario. He expressed to the representative kinsman his view of the proposal of a hostile meeting, viz.: that he treated it with contempt, and should not think of going out under the circumstances; but that at the same time he should have much pleasure in introducing his own shoemaker to the nobleman's tailor at the earliest opportunity, through the medium of contact with the wares purveyed respectively by those enterprising tradesmen. The meeting then terminated. A day or two after the brother received another communication from the kinsman, saying that he had ceased to act on behalf of the latter, having found out that he had been playing him false. And so, in truth he had. The idea of a meeting to arange a duel was merely a ruse on the part of Lothario to get both of his kinsman out of the way for the day. So soon as he had thus dispatched each of them on this interview, and thus got the brother off his guard of the lady, Lothario posted down to the absent brother's abode and there spent the day.

JOTTINGS.

—O. Sessions is hauling lumber for the Asylum.

—Seven cars went through yesterday for the Bodie & Mono road.

—Reno visitors are numerous at Steamboat on Sundays.

—It is not true that children cry for Kelly's corn beef.

—Stocks are, if anything, weaker than ever.

—Charles Knust says he shipped ten tons of groceries Saturday, and still he is not happy.

—About 40 Renoites attended the Caledonia picnic at Carson Saturday. The value of advertising.

—It rained quite heavily for about two hours on Saturday night at Wadsworth and Hot Springs.

— A certain prominant gentleman, of Reno, received a consignment of tar, by express, to-day. No insinuations.

—A glass of Queen's ice-cream and soda, with pure, true, fruit syrup, is not only a luxury; it is a necessity, this warm weather.

—Those who have their draying done by Aitken get their goods early and thus catch the early worm. He was hauling fruit around town this morning before 7 o'clock.

BENDER VS. BOYD.

Ex-Deputy Treasurer Bender Gives an Account of His Settlement With Treasurer Boyd.

RENO, NEV., Aug. 9, 1881.

ED. GAZETTE:—In a report to the County Commissioners made by District Attorney, Mr. Rankin, published in the Journal Sunday morning, the present County Treasurer is made to say as follows:

"I asked Bender, when he turned the county funds to me, if these certificates were for the balance due from Norton, he said 'yes,' so I supposed it was in accordance with the agreement between the banks and the bondsmen who gave the bond of indemnity. Bender delivered certificates on the Reno Savings Bank amounting to $3,800, and D. A. Bender & Co., certificates for $1,100. I supposed that he, Bender, being the County Treasurer, had applied the collections of the Norton estate on his certificate. I did not know that the Savings Bank had received nearly half of all collections. until the Grand Jury Committee handed in the Bender statement of the account in January, 1881."

To which I wish to reply that when I turned over the certificates above mentioned with other county funds to the County Treasurer, I explained to him the whole Norton transaction, and I did not tell him that both of these certificates represented the amount due the Reno Savings Bank from the Norton transaction. I informed him at that time about how much was due from the Norton transaction to each bank, and that Norton or his bondsmen would not be obliged to pay interests on the loan so long as the amounts due the banks were reptesented by certificates of deposit. At this time it was customary for the County Treasurer to deposit a portion of the county funds in the banks, the county's safe being considered insecure.

The County Treasurer had no reason to infer that Norton or his bondsmen were indebted to the Reno Savings ban k a larger sum than to us viz.: about $1,100. The banks were secured by Norton and his bondsmen, and the fact that the County Treasurer at one time drew $1,000 on the Savings Bank cert. shows that the money was payable on the presentation of the certificates, and that there was no necessity to "enforce the collection," as mentioned. What matter was it to the County Treasurer whether there should be dissatisfaction among the Norton bondsmen. If he (the County Treasurer) considered it best to place the money in the county safe. As a matter of fact, there was no evident dissatisfaction among the Norton bondsmen when the $1,000 was drawn by him on the Savings Bank certificate, and no reason why, at his discretion, he should not have drawn the balance at the same time. There was no call for the County Treasurer to stand between the Norton bondsmen and the banks, unless he did so of his own free will.

The new county vaults and safe was finished for the use of the County Treasurer long before the failure of the Reno Savings Bank, and had the County Treasurer so desired he could have drawn the county funds on deposit at both banks, represented by these certificates of deposit, payable upon presentation and endorsement, and placed the coin where it lawfully belonged, and I assure Mr. Boyd that so far as the bank of D. A. Bender & Co. was concerned, it would not have been necessary for him to "enforce the collection", of the $1,100 certificate.

Very reepectfully,

CHAS. T. BENDER.

Lah-di-dah.

An Eastern exchange says: "Of all the performances given here this winter, there has been none more thoroughly enjoyed or appreciated than the Mastodons. It is pretty much the same old "40" that were with us last year, only all the more improved by their foreign travels. They have acquired a certain "la-di-dah-ness" of action, a sort of delicate burnt cork swelldom, and a touch of the broad accent, but they have lost none of their old funny ways, and kept the house in a continual roar of laughter and evinced a degree of skill and finish which is truly wonderful.

Our Taste.

This morning Charles Knust opened the last barrel of "our taste" hams. At noon they were nearly all gone. He will receive another invoice tomorrow morning. You can order them in advance.

THE IRON HORSE.

Probability that He Will be Turned Into two New Pasture Fields Near Reno.

The enterprise of tapping Eagle Lake in Lassen county is progressing favorably. The tunnel will be 7,425 feet in length. This, in connection with the Marker and Merrill flume, will redeem 200,000 acres of sage-brush land, which is as good as any in the world. It will also unlock the magnificent timber region about Eagle Lake, and dump the wood and lumber at Belfast, 13 miles from Susanville, and in the edge of Honey Lake valley. Belfast seems to be happily situated for an intermediate supply point of all the Northern country. Wagon roads have been built to Alturas and Willow Creek, which shorten distances materially. P. N. Marker, of Washoe, informs the GAZETTE that the enterprise is assured, and that if necessary he will build a railroad from Belfast, as an outlet to the resources of that region. It would be 75 miles to Reno by his proposed line. He thinks he has the key to the country, and is favored by the hills and mountains. There will be no lack of capital if it becomes necessary for him to build a road. The GAZETTE is willing to set right here and see railroads built all around it.

PORT ORFORD TO RENO.

W. F. Berry, of Manning & Berry, informs the GAZETTE that there is still another active railroad scheme which will benefit Nevada and add to Reno's prosperity. This scheme contemplates the building of a line from Port Orford, Oregon, about 300 miles south of Portland, through Southern Oregon and the Rogue River country to Linkville. From there through the Klamath basin into Modoc county, to connect with the Nevada and Oregon Railway at or about Alturas. The company consists principally of San Francisco parties, and the capital has been arranged for in the East when the facts in regard to the route and country have been properly certified to the Eastern people. It will be 400 miles from Port Orford to Reno. The Pacific Division Coast Survey have heretofore reported Port Orford as the finest harbor north of San Francisco. Southern Oregon is one of the finest farming countries in the world, and also possesses timber and mineral resources of a high order. Mr. Berry is acquainted with every foot of the country, and will accompany the party on a tour of inspection soon to be made. Colonel Thomas Moore, of the Nevada & Oregon, has been suggested as the right man to report on the proposed route.

Gone to Rest.

Ex-Senator, Wm. L. Ross, an old pioneer and member of the Legislature of 1876-8 from this county, has passed away. He left for the east 17 months ago, and has been on his sisters farm near Elkhart city, Ill., 18 miles from Springfield, the capital. He died suddenly on the eve of the 26th of July, placing his hand over his heart before he died to indicate the trouble there. He was buried in a beautiful cemetery in a lot where his mother was buried. The mother and her first born now rest side by side. Deceased was aged about 65 years.

Lamb Barbecue.

A roast lamb with six pounds of dressing was served at Chase & Thyes yesterday. Everybody did his own carving and was consequently satisfied The practice of setting out lambs and beeves free of charge ought to be encouraged during these hard times. The tender morsel was one of Bob Branton's best, and it may account for the absence of some husbands from the usual Sunday dinner.

Provided For.

Miss M. A. Harney has succeeded in her charitable design of sending Mr. Negley to the Hot Springs near Wellington. Geo. Scott, of the Warm Springs near Reno, offers the family his premises for occupancy free of charge. The Springs are said to possess remarkable curative powers. R. P. M. Kelly also offers to move the family free of charge.

Wars and Rumors.

The war among the artists is growing. At first it was a mere speck on the horizon. Dunham & Lathrop are fortifying on the height near the GAZETTE office, and a brisk cannonade all along the line made be expected. La Roche & Scoy have a medley on exhibition, and Eastman is displaying some fine views.

PERSONAL.

Major Mann is quite ill.

E. Byrne, Columbus, is at the Depot.

Thos. S. Ford Esq., Truckee is at the Areade

L. G. Clark has returned to Duck Flat.

Miss Ida Cleveland has gone to Virginia.

Joe Marzen went out to Lovelock's to-day.

Mrs. Jas. F. Davis is visiting friends at Grass Valley.

Mrs. R. H. Eggleson and child, of Reno, have arrived in Eureka.

Prof. O. Ring returned this morning from his trip to California.

Jim Cardwell, the veteran hotel man is at Hawthorne.

J. C. Hagerman went to Sacramento last night to be gone for a few days.

J. F. Pine, P. P. Farrell, M. F. Welch and J. C. Welsh, Bodie, are at the Palace.

C. E. Laughton, Auditor V. & T. R. R., went to Sacramento Saturday night.

Dan Lyon has left the Virginia Chronicle and gone into buisiness for himself.

M. J. Stinson, teacher of music, San Francisco, called at the GAZETTE office Saturday evening.

D. B. Lyman of the Pacific Mill and Mining Company, went down to the Eagle Salt works this morning.

Treasurer L. L. Crockett came down Saturday night with two orphans named Parker. They went to Wisconsin.

Messrs. Roff, Flannagan, Davis and Powning went to Virginia this morning to attend the meeting of the Grand Lodge, K. of P.

S. D. Brastow, Assistant Superintendant of Wells Fargo & Co's. express, was in town last night. He goes to Virginia to-day and San Francisco to-night.

Jas. A. Ferguson had an attack of cholera morbus on Saturday night, and his friends were alarmed for some time. He is much better to-day.

A Complete Establishment.

J. L. McFarlin thinks he is furnishing very fine quarters for Murray & Dunham, the already well-known photographers. A GAZETTE reporter has seen the premises and agrees with him. The new gallery will be 24x70, and the furniture will correspond with the rooms. Every modern appliance for successful photography will be in use. The proprietors are thorough artists and Reno will have the finest photographic parlors on the coast outside of San Francisco.

A Hidden Railroad.

The GAZETTE has discovered another railroad. It lies in the mountains northwest of Reno, half-way to Red Bluffs. It is 10 miles long and 3 feet wide, and has a nice little locomotive and train of cars. It was built by the Sierra Lumber Company to connect two of their saw mills, the Champion and the Yellow Jacket. The engine was taken to pieces and hauled up on teams. The rails are about half laid now. It is forty miles from any other railroad.

Promoted.

It is rumored that Mr. D. W. Swain, roadmaster of the C. P. R. R. from Reno to Humboldt, has been offered a better position with the same company at Oakland. Mr. Swain is a perfect gentleman and his departure will be regretted by a large circle of friends. Who will succeed him has not transpired.

The Cold Wave.

Virginia City now gets her ice from the Truckee river. It takes about 150 tons a week from Prosser creek. Two hundred and twenty-five cars went to San Francisco in July. Two cars went to Deming N. M. the other day.

The Wind at Steamboat.

It is a curious fact that when the wind blows, the baths at Steamboat lose almost all their heat. They feel the effects of it almost instantly. It seems to penetrate the crevices of the mountain and drives the steam back into the earth.

Boca.

A. McIntosh, of Boca, is in town. His mill has been shut down some days for the repair of a broken shaft. It started up again Saturday for the season's run. McIntosh has all the orders he can attend to at present.

The First Train

This afternoon at 1:30 the Santa Cruz started on her first trip over the N. & O. track. The little engine pushed five flat cars, and these were covered with men and boys anxious to take the first ride over the new road. Everything seemed to go smoothly, although the little horse ponted considerably on the up grades. Sam Hilliard is the first engineer, and Nat Kendall seemed to combine for to-day the positions of brakeman and conductor. The train carried Colonel Moore, Capt. Bragg, Geo. A. King, S. C. Scoville and many of the subcontractors. The Santa Cruz, at the head of a construction train, will materially aid in the construction of the Nevada and Oregon.

A Tough Story.

An exchange relates the following wonderful story: "Patrick Mulligan, the miner whose body was pierced through by a falling drill in the Moulton shaft at Butte City, six weeks ago, is now walking about the streets of that town. The drill was of 1⅛ inch steel, and over three feet in length, and struck Mulligan in the back, passing diagonally through his body; Mulligan himself taking the protruding bar in his hands, and by a powerful effort pulling the remainder of the steel through his own body. A more remarkable exhibition of nerve than displayed in this instance will scarcely be found on record.

Personal.

A pressure of work from all parts of the country has compelled the GAZETTE to add to the force in the job office, and it has been so fortunate as to secure the services of T. S. Harris of San Francisco, who arrived this morning and went right to work. Mr. Harris was the foreman of the Bodie Standard, and has lately been to work on the Pacific Specimen at Marder, Luse & Co.'s type foundry. He is as good a job printer as there is on the coast, and with the fine materials now in his hands will add to his reputation. Everything in the office was bought at the factories for cash, and prices are half what they used to be.

Penmanship.

Professor C. M. Butts will open his writing school on Wednesday noon, next, at the public school house. Prof. Butts has taught in all the principal cities of California, and brings flattering endorsements from the press and his former pupils. The progress shown by some of his scholars is truly remarkable. His terms will be $3 for 12 lessons. None are expected to pay unless entirely satisfied. All should embrace this golden opportunity.

Church Calendar.

This is the calendar for the week ending August 13th: Sunday—Ninth Sunday after Pentecost; Monday—SS. Cyrirous and Companions, Martyrs, Tuesday—St. Alexius, Confessor; Wednesday—St. Lawrence, Martyr; Thursday—Of the Octave of St. Lawrence; Friday—St. Clare, Virgin; Saturday—Of the Octave.

Fine Team.

A. McIntosh sent up toB oca on Saturday a very fine team of eight horses. They are all heavy draft animals, purchased for the hauling of timber, logs and lumber. Mr. McIntosh expects to get a large amount of work from his pets. One span weighed 1,300, and others of the team exceeded that weight.

Police Court.

Two young men named Timmins and Morton were arrested yesterday. for fighting. They plead guilty and were ordered to appear for sentence at 4 P. M. to-day.

Ed. Perman was arrested by Constable Avery to-day, for disturbing the peace.

Divorced.

Webster & Rankin have separated. There has been no dissolution because there was no partnership. District Attorney Rankin will occupy his quarters in the Court House, and Judge Webster will remain at his old office on Second street.

Warners' Safe Kidney and Liver Cure.

Irrigation.

Hugh Frasier, from the Ney ranch, sends the GAZETTE a fine sample of irrigation. It is the second crop for this year and the grass has actually reached the height of 2½ feet. He will have a third crop.

Nice Plugs for $1.

Nasby's thermometer at 9, 11 and 3, said: 90, 89, 91, 90.
